Agents seize 19 pounds of opium at home on Walnut

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A lot of people look forward to their mail arriving.

But investigators believe a Walnut St. couple had a special reason to be excited about their trips to the mailbox.

The two were arrested Thursday afternoon while agents seized about $550,000 dollars worth of opium from their home at 511 Walnut St. in West Sacramento. Investigators think that a "large portion" of the 19 pounds of opium seized had been sent to West Sacramento from Laos through the mail.

At about 4 p.m. last week, agents form the Yolo County Narcotics Enforcement Team, U.S. Customs, the U.S. Post Office, the California Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement, the West Sacramento Police Department and the Willows Police Department seized the record amount of opium while serving a search warrant.

Also seized were a scale, packaging material, $7,600 in cash, drug smoking materials, a weapon and ammunition, and a five-plant marijuana cultivation.

Six children at the home were taken into custody by Yolo County Child Protective Services.

Residents Vern Saetern, and Farm Ta Saetern, both 46, were arrested for violations including possession of opium for sale, cultivation of marijuana, possession of a controlled substance with a firearm, maintaining a place where narcotics are used or sold, and child endangerment. They face a maximum sentence of 17 years in state prison.

A Yolo Narcotic Enforcement Team ("YONET") press release stated that opium smoking has gained in popularity in Yolo and Sacramento counties. A YONET spokesman declined to provide more detailed information on the arrests, citing an ongoing investigation, but remarked that "you could say" the arrests stemmed from a tip.

The spokesman declined to say whether the drugs were believed to have been mailed to the Walnut St. residence or to some other location.

Help: only a phone call away

JULIA HERNANDEZ

Is your spouse or mate jealous of the time you spend with friends, family, and co-workers? Does he exhibit controlling behavior and try to control your comings and goings and your money? Does he insist on "helping" you make personal decisions? Does he try to isolate and cut you off from supportive resources such as telephone pals and colleagues at work? Does he blame others for his problems? Is everything "your fault"? Is he hypersensitive and easily upset by annoyances that are a part of daily life, such as being asked to help with chores or child care? Is he cruel to animals or children and insensitive to their pain and suffering? Does he use force in sex? Does he verbally abuse you, say cruel and hurtful things, or degrade and humiliate you? Does he have sudden mood swings and unpredictable behavior where one minute he is loving, and the next minute angry and punitive? Does he have a past history of battering or come from a home where battering took place? Has he hit others and used the excuse that he was "pushed over the edge?" Does he threaten violence with words like "I'll slap you" or "I'll kill you"? Does he break your possessions or throw objects near or at you or your children? Does he use force during an argument, hold you down or against a wall, push, shove, slap or kick you, actions which can easily escalate to choking, stabbing or shooting?

According to Julia Hernandez, who is the Victim Advocate on the West Sacramento Domestic Violence Response Team, these are just some of the warning signals which should alert a woman to the fact that she is living in a potentially explosive environment.

"West Sacramento is just like anywhere else," said Julia, "and we have the same domestic violence problems here as they do in bigger cities. What the West Sacramento Domestic Violence Response Team attempts to do is intervene as quickly as possible and do everything we can to stop the battering and assist the victim. Typically, when we receive a call for help, the police go out and investigate the situation. My partner, Detective Erik Thruelsen, is responsible for locating and arresting the batterer and its my job to contact the victim and offer any help or support she may need. For instance, she may not want to go to court and face the person who attacked her and I can do that for her. Plus I can explain how the justice system works, do a risk assessment for her which will help her understand what kind of danger she may be in, put her in contact with other agencies that can assist her, provide transportation for her and her children, or just purchase food and diapers for her. The goal is to do whatever is necessary to improve the situation and make sure it doesn't happen again."

Julia, who has undergone intensive training to prepare her for the kind of problems she faces in the field, is on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week. "What we want women to know in West Sacramento is that if they are a victim of domestic violence, there really is help for them," said Julia. "If they call our crisis line, they will be able to talk to a knowledgeable counselor who can answer all their questions and get them in touch with the people and services they need. We also have a shelter should they need to immediately escape a violent environment and we can even provide transportation out of the area if that is necessary to stop the battering."

Julia is actually employed by the Sexual Assault & Domestic Violence Center in Woodland, but with the help of Yolo County Social Services and the Office of Criminal & Justice Planning, a three year state grant was received last September which made possible the creation of the West Sacramento Domestic Violence Response Team.

"On average," said Julia, "we're receiving about five calls a week. Since domestic violence is an under-reported crime, it's hard to know for sure how many women in West Sacramento are in need of our services, but for those who do call, they quickly find out that law enforcement is on their side and that we will do everything in our power to help them. Making that first call is always the hardest part. Battered women often are very isolated and are even a hostage in their own home. They are afraid of what will happen to themselves and their children if they try to leave. They don't know who they should tell, what they should do, or who can help them."

What often finally encourages a battered woman to seek help is that she becomes fearful for her children and their future.

"For awhile," explained Julia, "a battered woman can tell herself that the children are too young to understand what's going on, or that they are usually asleep when it happens, or that it's not going to ruin their life the way it's ruining hers, but sooner or later, she realizes none of that is true. Children are extremely bright --they always know what is going on."

At the very least, a woman who lives in a violent environment needs to have a safety plan, and Julia or a crisis line counselor can help in the preparation of one.

"If a battered woman is thinking of leaving her spouse or mate," explained Julia, "she should have a strategy for doing it, which is called a safety plan. When does he go to work? When are some of the other times when he will be out of the house for a known amount of time. Plus children should always know how to call 911 and neighbors should be encouraged to call police if they ever hear yelling or screaming."

"Julia is doing a wonderful job," said Sara Bruce, who is the director of the battered women's shelter in West Sacramento. "While she was attending college, she started out as a crisis hot-line volunteer and then she became the training coordinator for all our volunteers. She works very hard and has made herself knowledgeable about all aspects of domestic violence."

Sara went on to say, "West

WUSD reports test score improvement

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Last spring, California students in grades two through 11 took a standardized exam to determine their efficiency in the areas of reading and math. Although West Sacramento's Washington Unified School District has only had time for a preliminary look at the results, Renee Regacho, the district's Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum Instruction, is pleased with what she has seen so far.

"Overall," said Regacho, "scores are up throughout the district. Our second grade students had the most dramatic increase, but our third and fourth graders showed improvement, too. Fifth, sixth, and seven grades were not quite as strong, but our ninth graders did very well in math, as did our 11th graders in reading. Our 10th graders had a slight dip in reading, though."

When asked why she thought the district's scores were generally up, Regacho said, "I think there's a number of reasons, including reduction in class size in the lower grades, better training of our teachers, a new emphasis which has been placed on the language arts, and a focus on our curriculum meeting state standards."

Although a general overview of the test results is encouraging, Regacho cautioned that parents shouldn't read too much into the scores.

'I think there's a number of reasons, including reduction in class size in the lower grades, better training of our teachers, a new emphasis which has been placed on the language arts, and a focus on our curriculum meeting state standards.'

RENEE REGACHO
Asst. Superintendent for Curriculum

"Standardized testing is a pretty complicated business," said Regacho, "and any number of factors have to be taken into consideration when looking at the scores, but I think it's fair to say that our students are very competitive with similar California school children and we're pleased with the test results."

A more in-depth look at Washington Unified School District test scores, what they mean and how to interpret them, will appear in the News-Ledger in the near future.

District names interim RCHS principal

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

WUSD superintendent Dr. Dennis Kelleher issued a press release announcing the appointment of an interim principal for River City High School on Friday, but later added that the appointment was not yet official.

The school board on Thursday evening met in closed session and gave a "consensus" thumbs-up to the appointment of Dr. Gary Hartman to take the reins at RCHS following the departure of principal Dr. Donna White.

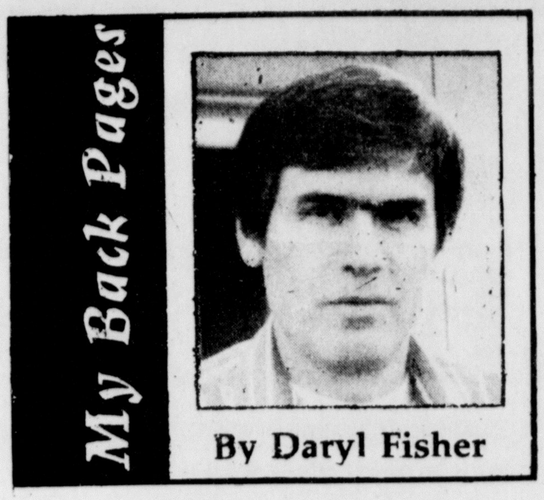
Hartman has a bachelor of science degree from Evangel College, said Kelleher, and a master's degree in educational psychology in 1976 from the University of San Francisco. He received a doctorate of education degree in organization and leadership from the University of San Francisco.

He holds a lifetime secondary teaching credential and a community college teaching credential, and has worked at positions from being a classroom teacher to a superintendent. Hartman has experience with the Elk Grove, Plumas, Biggs and Yreka school districts, and retired in June.

A Rocklin resident, Hartman is expected by Kelleher to serve as interim principal until Washington Unified selects a new replacement for White.

When asked about the propriety of hiring Hartman at a meeting in which the agenda item described only a meeting with a "possible interim administrator," Kelleher explained that the school board's approval of Hartman was tentative and the board will take formal action later. The press release announcement of the appointment may have been worded incorrectly, he added.

A few thoughts on the passing of John F. Kennedy, Jr.



As I write this, the body of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr. has finally been found at the bottom of the ocean inside what is left of the fuselage of his Piper Saratoga. Early reports say that searchers are still struggling to discover the whereabouts of Carolyn Bessette Kennedy and her sister, Lauren, but by the time this goes to press, hopefully they, too, will have been found and returned to their grieving parents. "We need to get those three nice kids out of the water," said one determined searcher who was being interviewed on radio, "and we won't stop until we do."

For most of the last half of this century, the Kennedy family, for better or worse, has been the subject of hundreds of books and who knows how many newspaper and magazine articles. We have all looked on as they got married, had children, and ran for high public office. We also watched in horror as the two most prominent members of the family, John and Robert, were cut down by assassins in the prime of their lives, never to fulfill their promise, real or imagined. And more than anything else, we have marveled at the Kennedy's grace and courage as they buried one family member after another, never asking "why us", never demanding to know when the law of averages was finally going to kick in, never doubting that the family was blessed, not cursed.

Now the young Kennedy boy whose salute to his fallen father once had a whole nation crying is gone, too. By all accounts he was kind, decent, generous, unassuming, full of common sense and beginning to pick up the momentum needed if one is going to make a difference in this life. Those who knew him the best said he seemed to handle most everything, even his mistakes and shortcomings, with a bouncy and good-humored grace that endeared him to just about everyone he met or worked with. He wasn't cynical or stuck-up or full of himself. He appreciated his good fortune and enjoyed life. He kayaked and parasailed and rollerbladed through Central Park. He was a regular guy, even if he was beyond rich and mainly known as a hunk, and just about everyone found it easy to wish him well.

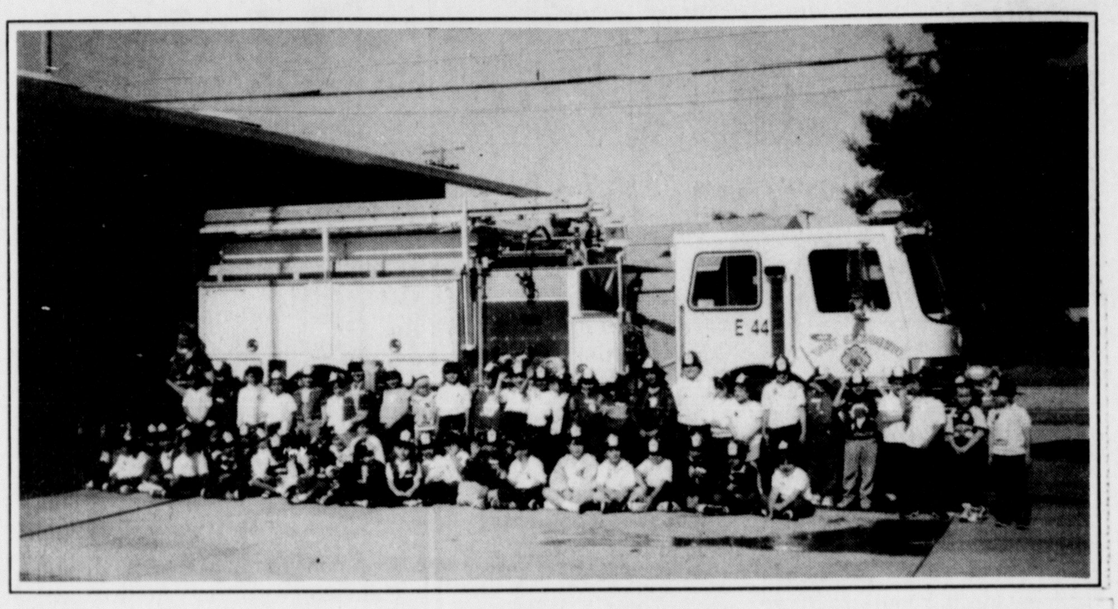
To be famous from the first day you are born seems to me to be a pretty heavy load to bear, yet from everything I've heard and read, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr. had come to accept his fame, didn't find it particularly unbearable, and was even amused by it at times. But he was definitely a star, and this star-struck country could never quite seem to get enough of him. Photographs of him were always on magazine covers, who he was dating was always front page news, and those who follow politics were always wondering if he would someday help the country recapture some of that spirit and excitement his father had brought to the White House in the early 1960s.

Although everyone seems to agree that John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr. was indeed a good and decent man, well-mannered, disciplined, comfortable with himself, and with a bright future ahead of him, it still doesn't begin to explain the unbelievable outpouring of concern and affection the country has bestowed upon him since the moment it was learned his plane was missing and that he, his wife, and sister-in-law were presumed to have gone down in 100-foot waters near Martha's Vineyard. "Why is everyone so concerned?" asked one man on the Internet. "For heaven sakes, he was just a magazine publisher."

But for those of us who were glued to our television sets on that awful late November weekend in 1963, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr. was much more than a magazine publisher. He was John-John, and although he has always been part of the culture of celebrity which has become so harmful to this country, he is/was in many ways, this nation's adopted son. Since his farewell salute to his father, we knew Jackie was raising him right, but we still tried to keep a parental eye on him. Was he doing well in school? Did he have a nice girlfriend? Was he living responsibly? Did he finally pass his bar exam? And now that he is gone, we are all suddenly reminded of the worst fate that can possibly happen to any of us -- the death of one of our children.

I learned long ago, in a faraway place called Lai Khe, Vietnam, that life is not fair or just, but no matter how well any of us have learned that lesson, it makes it no easier to watch someone we cared about lose his or her life way before they should have. It doesn't matter if you like or hate the Kennedys. It doesn't matter if you are a Republican or a Democrat. What matters is that John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr. grew up to be a fine young man, and that alone was enough to make proud the nation that adopted him.

Junior firefighters



Last month, West Sacramento Fire Station #44 hosted the kindergarten classes of Maria Robles and Sally Hutchings from Elkhorn Village School. On duty were firefighters Jeff Martinez, Gary Fredericksen and Tom Mannion, who showed the students the "stop, drop and roll" technique and showed them how to use fire hoses and other equipment.

The 49ers will open training camp in Stockton on July 29th with a couple of new faces. The Niners rolled the dice on running back Lawrence Phillips, signing Phillips to a two-year deal worth $1.75 million with a $425,000 signing bonus. They also inked their number one pick, defensive back Reggie McGrew to a seven year $7.4 million deal, including a $2.5 million signing bonus.

Speaking of number one picks, how about the Chargers No.1 pick last year, Ryan Leaf, who will be out for the season with shoulder surgery! They should have picked Peyton Manning!

The Raiders camp is open in Napa with defensive backs Charles Woodson reporting early and Eric Allen, who suffered a season ending knee injury last year, looking good in camp. Allen helped the Raiders start last season 7-3 , then watched from the side line as they fell to 8-8 missing the playoffs. The Raiders are pinning the playoff hopes on journeyman quarterback Rick Gannon to lead them to the promise land. Gannon, who played in KC last season, will try to bring in the new West Coast offense, patterned by the Niners, which is a short passing game. The Raiders, who gave up on Jeff George and his long bombs, was cut and signed by Vikings.

The Raiders, who have the toughest schedule in the NFL, will need to start out winning as they open the season in Green Bay, then travel to Minnesota before they head home to play the Bears on Sept. 26. It doesn't get any better for them as they fly up to Seattle on Oct. 3, then they come home to face Denver. The schedule gets worst as they face three playoffs teams from last season in the Bills, Jets and Dolphins! If they can win 4 or 5 games against these teams the Raiders will be in the 2000 playoffs. It's a new millennium for the Oakland Raiders!

The 49ers on the other hand open the season on Sept. 12 in Jacksonville, then play the Saints, Cardinals, Titans, Rams and Panthers. I'll take the Niners schedule!

The Giants (54-46) fell out first place but remain one-half game behind Arizona in the National League West. The Giants, who have won only 4 out the last 13 games since the All-Star break, traded for the much needed starting pitching. The Giants sent two minor leaguers to Florida for, Livan Hernandez, the ace of their staff. Hernandez was 10-12 with 4.72 ERA last year, completing nine games and working 234 innings for the last place Marlins. The Giants will be on the road this weekend playing in Cincinnati, then they head to Arizona for the first play showdown with the Diamondbacks!

The A's (51-48) are trailing the first place Rangers by 7 1/2 games but are only five games behind Toronto for the wild card spot in the playoffs. The A's will be at home this weekend to host Tampa Bay and Baltimore.

See ya next week!!

News-Ledger Editorial

Slow learners

The News-Ledger was just a bit surprised to learn that the local school district had hired an interim principal for River City High School Thursday, since there was nothing about such a hiring on the school board agenda.

But a press release came from the superintendent afterwards announcing that the district had appointed the temporary principal, and various sources (including an assistant superintendent) agreed that the school board had met in closed session and appointed the gentleman "by consensus" on Thursday in closed session. However, when asked about the legality of this action, the superintendent later explained that the press release may have been worded incorrectly -- the board did not take "official" action on the hiring, and would not until its next meeting.

Doubtless, the school board certainly discussed the administrator's appointment and gave their approval, while the agenda item only described an intent for the board to "meet with [a] possible interim administrator."

The actual position of the administrator wasn't described, nor was it apparent that the board might authorize a hiring. Both of these facts should have been made known to the public in advance to comply with state open meeting laws.

The following item on the same agenda stated that the board would, in closed session, "discuss possible sale of real estate." One local resident correctly points out that if the board merely intended to decide whether to market a piece of property, then that item belonged in open public session and not in closed session. And if, instead, the agenda item intended to give the board a chance to give its negotiators instructions regarding the sale, then the discussion indeed belonged in closed session -- but either way, the property needed to be identified and the type of action being considered needed to be better described.

WUSD officials must learn that they may not discuss items not on their agendas; that their agendas must properly describe any items to be considered; and that a decision "by consensus" is just as much an "action" as a decision by a roll call vote.

State law prescribes certain remedies for violations of these laws. Following these remedies would be a terrific start. And afterwards, perhaps all board members and staff involved will look for a chalkboard on which to write, "I will not violate the Ralph M. Brown Act," about a hundred times.

Letters to the Editor

Don't change mayor's tenure

It is kind of sad that we are seeing a split on our city council. For the past two years it seemed that we finally had a team who could work together. It started when that ole drill sergeant was mayor, yes, Bill Kristoff, he had two recruits on his left and two veterans on his right and we were going in the right direction. The city staff finally hit its peak. YES! It took 10 years to learn how to run a city. Yes there were a lot of short comings. We should be proud of our workers. They weathered through their short comings alone in beating Sacramento for the ball park. It's a big one and we all should be proud. So what is all this baloney about a two year team for our future mayors? A move brought on by Mayor Cabaldon and councilman Jim Cahill.

It's good to be young and ambitious. But at what price? Everyone knows that Cabaldon moved here from Los Angeles to be near his job at the state capitol, we also know that we as a new city were ripe for a bright young city slicker to start his political life and he has done a decent job. He has been a good front man for us, be brought a lot of legislature experience with him but where's the heart? Not one person who has been our mayor has had the experience of being a mayor, and everyone of our mayors have given it their all starting with Mike McGowan, Fidel Martinez, Cindy Tuttle and so on. And they all took their turn.

But what is really bothersome is Jim Cahill. What is the rush? He hasn't even warmed his chair yet. He is the Lone Ranger and has been out of step now since we gave him the job. Now we have the Lone Ranger & Tonto together wanting to change the way we have been selecting our mayors. It has not been forgotten how Cabaldon became vice mayor it was not right. Him and Wes Beers teamed up to get re-elected. Believing that with Beers as mayor and Cabaldon as vice mayor it would be a shoe in, well it didn't turn out that way. Beers lost big time. It was to be councilman Montemayor's turn for vice mayor he was the top vote getter and for Montemayor it turned out for the best.

When Montemayor was elected to office he became one of the youngest ever elected to office here in our state. He is home bread born here and he went to school here. He is our kid politician, he is not a transplant and the voters know that. We are his teachers and he works for us. We knew it when we elected him. He was a real long shot and everyone involved in our politics said he had no chance to win. Well they were wrong. We the people of West Sacramento knew what was best for us we voted big time for our new youngster. Mr. Cahill, one piece of advice, be careful who you team up with, your in over your head when it comes to our Mayor Cabaldon. He is a good and smart guy. Remember what happened to Mayor Beers.

So for this year we have had a good year and when the time comes for Mr. Cabaldon to seek higher office, I'm sure that we will be behind him and support him but for now lets play fair and work hard.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY NOTES

The Sacramento river registered three feet four inches, United States guage at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. The tide now cuts considerable figure on the stage of the river, so much so that any figures given in the Independent, as is habitual, are not reliable owing to the variations made by the tide.

Fishing is a negligible industry in this section of the river at the present time. From reports from down stream points it appears that considerable salmon are being gathered by the fishermen, and even at up river points some fish are being caught. The salmon season closes on August 17th, to remain closed till the end of September.

The deer season opens on August 1st and many local young men have already made the necessary preparations for going out to get some wild meat. So far ten of the local men will be found at Bartlett Mountain, west of Williams, on the morning of August 1st, and many of their friends are looking for returns when they come back home.

Ed Wilson and wife are down from Pleasant Grove rusticating with friends in this locality. That metropolitan section is overflowing with visitors at the present writing.

Joseph Andrews, Jr., of Oakland, has been a visitor at the Bennett home during the past few days to remain for a week or two.

Leona Williams has been in the Sisters Hospital in Sacramento for several days under a physician's care for the removal of adenoids.

E. Steuben also underwent an operation in a Sacramento hospital for the removal of adenoids.

It seems extraordinary what an acute taste some men have cultivated for candy since they have been deprived of thir regular bitters. This has been noticeable since prohibition came and is all the more noticeable because soft drink places seem to have more revenue now from candies and sweets than they formerly had from intoxicating liquors. George Turner is one of those who has cultivated a fine tooth for candy, but his peculiarity is singular to himself, for while consuming candy he also gets away with a bottle of near-beer. This combination is so strange that his friends around town take great delight in watching him get away with a dose.

William Norton returned from the two weeks' outing at Santa Cruz last Thursday. The balance of the Norton family will be home early next week.

Ben Moss, still confined in a Sacramento hospital, is improving somewhat but is still in danger, his friends fearing that complications may set in which might prove dangerous.

Fire at the shipyards of the Sacramento Transportation Company last Tuesday evening was quickly subdued by the local volunteer fire department of Washington. Workmen at the shipyard were burning some weeds and the blaze got beyond control, communicating to a large pile of lumber that was about to be used in finishing a large barge. In less than ten minutes the fire was extinguished by the local volunteer fire department.

A suit for non-payment of wages was dismissed by Judge Barry last Tuesday against Joseph Nunes when the complainant refused to prosecute. The suit originated in a co-partnership in land in the Lisbon District, and was settled without trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jasper, with the Misses Nondis and Maida Jasper, have gone to their home in Wheatland after returning from a visit in St. Helena, where they were accompanied by Mrs. F. L. White, Jr.

Mrs. Mattie Starkey, with her granddaughter, Joy Painter, came up from Oakland Wednesday and will visit at the home of Mrs. Clarence Painter before going to Sparks for a month's stay at the home of Bert Hohner, son of Mrs. Starkey.

Mrs. Frank De Riso and son, John, have returned from a visit in Lamoine with Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Riso, Jr.

Ross Wilson of Woodland was in Washington Sunday.

A. G. Brietzke recently completed the construction of a small office building on his property on Third street.

O. P. Cook, who has been seriously ill for the past several days, is reported slightly better.

Mrs. Esther Newton has returned after a visit in San Jose, where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Reginald Stevens.

Tom and Russell Crase have gone to the Yosemite Valley for a vacation. Mrs. Russell Crase will visit at the home of Mrs. E. Newton during her husband's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nicholas have gone to Truckee for a two months' vacation.

William Rodriguez, residing in West Sacramento, reported to the police Monday night that two highwaymen, believed to be Mexicans, held him up and robbed him on the Yolo County side of the M street bridge. The bandits took $30, a watch and army discharge papers.

CURVE AT FIFTH AND ANN STREETS CALLED MENACE TO LIFE

On many occasions the Independent called attention to the dangerous curve at Fifth and Ann streets, Washington.

Wreck after wreck has occurred at this point, yet neither the State Highway Commission nor the Board of Supervisors of Yolo County has done anything to remedy the condition prevailing at that point.

The curve is a right angle with a roadway not much wider than ten feet. On the south is a deep hole in which a large telegraph pole is embedded. Any car going over this embankment is practically considered a wreck.

On the north of the roadway are the railroad tracks that mean destruction of tires or wreck of an automobile.

The Davis Enterprise of July 21st confirms the Independent in the menace this curve is to human life and property when it says:

The Enterprise has several times called attention to the section of highway one encounters just before reaching the S. P. bridge on the way to Sacramento. We have designated this menace as "Death Curve" and we understand the latest victim lost his life there a couple of weeks ago. "Death Curve" is met where the road turns to the right and continues to the S. P. Bridge. Accidents are occurring there almost weekly. There is practically no protection, particularly for the motorist who is not familiar with the road. At night this turn is especially dangerous.

It seems to us that the people who are responsible for the continuance of this death trap are deserving of severe censure. This condition has continued over a long period of years and still has not been remedied. It is a matter the board of supervisors might well take up without further loss of time. It is a piece of road that every careful driver dreads to negotiate.

HAYWARD REED HAS BEST PEAR CROP EVER KNOWN

Not less than 1800 tons of pears and probably 2000 tons of this succulent fruit will be harvested this Fall from the Reed orchard at Rose Orchard Station on the Sacramento Northern Railway.

Already the harvest on Hayward Reed's ranch has been started with one hundred people picking. All pickers are white and residents of the immediate neighborhood of the orchard, the majority being from Riverbank and immediately contiguous territory.

Men, women and children are employed on the ranch and go to their homes in the evening a few blocks away.

The Reed orchard has been known for many years as one of the most splendid producers in this section of the State, but this year the crop is particularly good being, as Mr. Reed says, the best he ever had.

Pears from the Reed orchard are not shipped East but have always been contracted to the canneries in Sacramento, thus returning assured benefits without any gamble as to results in glutted markets of the East.

In all the Reed orchard consists of one hundred and fifty acres of pears, of which between seventy and eighty acres are young trees that have just come into bearing.

When this latter portion of the orchard comes to maturity Mr. Reed anticipates a harvest of not less than four thousand tons, and that may probably run as high as five thousand tons.

It is Mr. Reed's intention to continue employing only white help, insofar as he is able, thus giving employment to the families of many railroad workingmen who are now out on strike.

The harvest will continue for a period of four or five weeks to come.

Mr. Reed has suffered considerably during several years past from pear blight and although a severe pruning and gashing was done during the past two years, there are still traces of the blight present in the orchard.

The Reed orchard is probably one of the largest exclusive pear orchards in this section of the State, and since prices are fairly remunerative, Mr. Reed is happy in the prospects that lie before him during his harvest.

SUPERVISORS OFF FOR EUREKA MEET

Woodland, July 24.—Supervisors F. B. Edson and W. O. Russell and their wives left for Eureka today by auto and Supervisors Wm. Leinberger and S. Gladney will leave by train for the same place on Tuesday. They were preceded by Supervisor Hutchins and Surveyor Proctor and John Kroninger Sunday. They will all be in attendance at the State Convention of Supervisors to be held in Eureka on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

WANTED—Man with car to sell best low-priced Cord Tires made. $100.00 per week and expenses. Wolfe Tire Co., 343 Canal, Benton Harbor, Mich.

ELKHORN ROAD IS BEING BUILT UNDER COUNTY BOND ISSUE

The McGillivray Construction Company has many trucks hauling road material to that section of the county highway, north of the Sacramento Weir and extending to Elk Horn.

The roadway has been graded and prepared by the contractors and gravel and asphaltum are being hauled from the plant of the contractors in Sacramento.

Not less than fifteen trucks of ten tons capacity are being used by the contractors in this work, so that the road will be finished before the end of August.

The cost of this road will be taken partly from the million dollar bond issue passed by the people two years ago and partly from the direct tax that was levied last year for this construction.

Inestimable benefit will be reaped by the farmers of the river district from this improved stretch of roadway. During many years those farmers have clamored for a road and now that their hopes are being realized they are extremely happy in the prospect of being able to get their crops to market without miring every few yards.

METRO FILM OPERATORS TAKE LOCAL CHARACTERS

Last Monday the Metro Photo Company of New York started filming pictures in Washington that will be subsequently made a part of the "Country Love" play.

Miss Billy Dove is the star of the entire cast, taking the principal part in all scenes filmed at this side of the river.

Nearly all children at this side of the river were taken in groups or singly during the process of filming last Monday morning.

Miss Dove and all the members of the party expressed themselves as being delighted with the scenes around Washington, making particular stress on the public school building and the town hall.

The large barge owned by Percy Hart and being remodeled into a river houseboat will be used for some time by the Metro Company in filming scenes along the river south of the M street bridge and as far north as Bryte's Bend and the Sacramento Weir.

Yesterday a report was current that another large picture concern was about to establish permanent headquarters in Washington or West Sacramento, but the name of the concern could not be learned.

The moving picture industry may become a permanent institution at this side of the river because of the great variety of scenery and the original condition of the landscapes.

REGISTRATION IN THIS SECTION NOW OVER 700

Tomorrow, Saturday, July 29th, is the last day for voters of the State to place their names on the registration books of the county.

Up to yesterday afternoon there were registered in this section of the county more than 700 voters. Of these Judge Barry registered 255, Constable Buckingham 269, E. C. White 50, and Joseph Contente 150.

If a full registration could be secured in this Supervisoral District there would not be less than 800 voters in this district.

Unfortunately, the harvest interferes considerably with registration, because at the present writing nearly all farmers are so busy they are kept going from sunup to sundown.

Any reader of the Independent who has not yet registered will be accommodated by Judge Barry or Constable Buckingham until 9 p. m. tomorrow, Saturday, July 29th.

SHORT LINE ASKS TO ISSUE BONDS

The San Francisco - Sacramento Railroad Company yesterday applied to the State Railroad Commission for authority to issue $200,000 first mortgage 6½ per cent bonds. It was stated in the application that the money is desired to make extensions and improvement.

Local officials said they have not been advised as to details of plans for the expenditure of the funds when the bonds are sold.

Sacramento and all of Yolo County is doing everything they can to get better at dealing with domestic violence. In addition to response teams, we are also doing a better job of training our police officers and properly coordinating cases once they reach the courts. Having a good victim advocate, though, is a big part of the puzzle, and West Sacramento definitely has one."

Domestic violence is every community's dirty little secret, and the West Sacramento Domestic Violence Response Team is trying to do whatever it can to shed as much light on the problem as possible.

"Battered women need to know they don't have to live that way," said Julia, "and it's really important for all the women living in this area to know that if they are a victim of domestic violence, help is only a phone call away."

The Domestic Violence Crisis Line telephone number in West Sacramento is 371-1907 and it is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Sexual Assault & Domestic Violence Center in Woodland can be contacted by calling 530-662-1133.

For bidding purposes these wage rate publications may be examined at the offices described above where project plans, Special Provisions, and proposal forms may be obtained. Future effective wage rates which have been predetermined and are on file with the Department of Industrial Relations are referenced but not printed in said publication.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor are set forth in the Special Provisions. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by the Department of Industrial Relations for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate. The Community Development Department will not accept lower State wage rates not specifically included in the Federal wage determinations. This includes "helper" (or other classifications based on hours of experience) or any other classification not appearing in the Federal wage determinations. Where Federal wage determinations do not contain the State wage rate determination otherwise available for use by the Contractor and subcontractors, the Contractor and subcontractors shall pay not less than the Federal minimum wage rate which most closely approximates the duties of the employees in question.

Attention is directed to the provisions of Public Contracts Code Section 5101 and following, concerning relief of bidders and in particular to the requirements therein that if the bidder claims a mistake was made in his bid, the bidder shall give the City written notice, within five (5) calendar days after the opening of bids of the alleged mistake, specifying in the notice, in detail, how the mistake occurred.

The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to determine which proposal is, in its judgment, the lowest responsive bid of a responsible bidder and which proposal should be accepted in the best interests of the City.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, ALVIN ELMER SCHLAUCH:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ARLA MAE COTTON in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION requests ARLA MAE COTTON be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Sept. 2, 1999, at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 2 located at 725 Court Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

SUMMER 1999

SUMMARY REPORT

Yolo County...a great place to live and work!

Prime Soil, Low Business Costs

Vintners Turn to Yolo

Yolo County's excellent climate, cool evenings and world-class soil are making heads turn in the California wine industry...and they are turning to Yolo County farmers to provide the grapes they need.

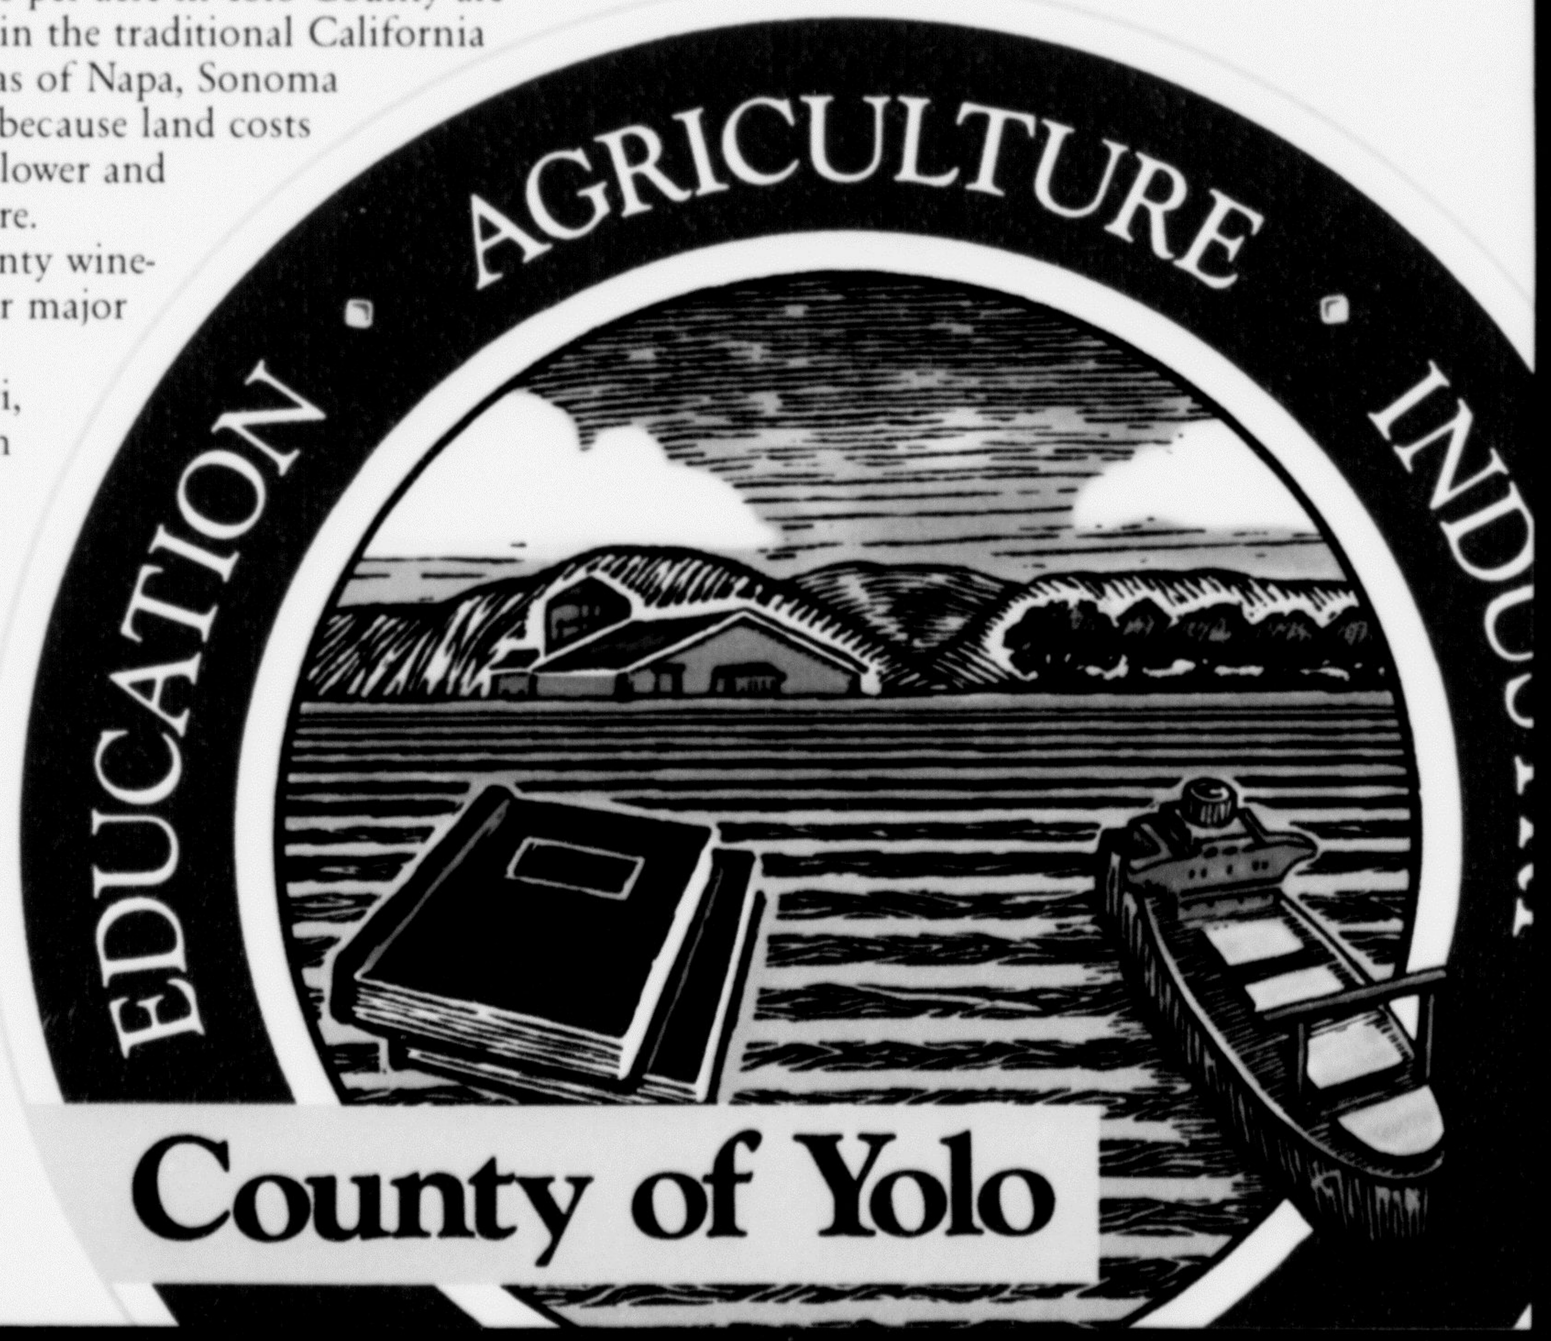
For the last ten years, winegrapes have been the County's fastest growing crop. There are now 27 growers cultivating more than 7,000 acres and there are plans to increase acreage to more than 10,000 within the next few years. That would generate nearly $30 million in farm revenues, placing winegrapes second only to processing tomatoes in farm revenues.

Excellent climatic conditions in Clarksburg and micro climatic advantages of the Dunnigan Hills allow farmers to produce high quality wine varietals. Both areas have been designated as Federal viticulture appellation areas, thereby earning them the right to cite their soil and climate conditions for production of unique wines which are useful in marketing campaigns.

California wineries are also looking to Yolo County because costs are lower here as well. Production expenses per acre in Yolo County are 20-50% lower than in the traditional California wine-producing areas of Napa, Sonoma and Lake Counties because land costs less, labor rates are lower and yields are higher here.

Most Yolo County winegrapes are grown for major wineries including Sebastiani, Mondavi, Sutter Home, Glenn Ellen and Woodbridge. A major wine crushing facility was also recently approved for Beau Chevaux Vineyards.

Yolo County has its own wineries as well, including Satiety, Bogle and RH Phillips. Each produces its own label and has a wine tasting room.



Agricultural Land Preservation and

Yolo County Heritage

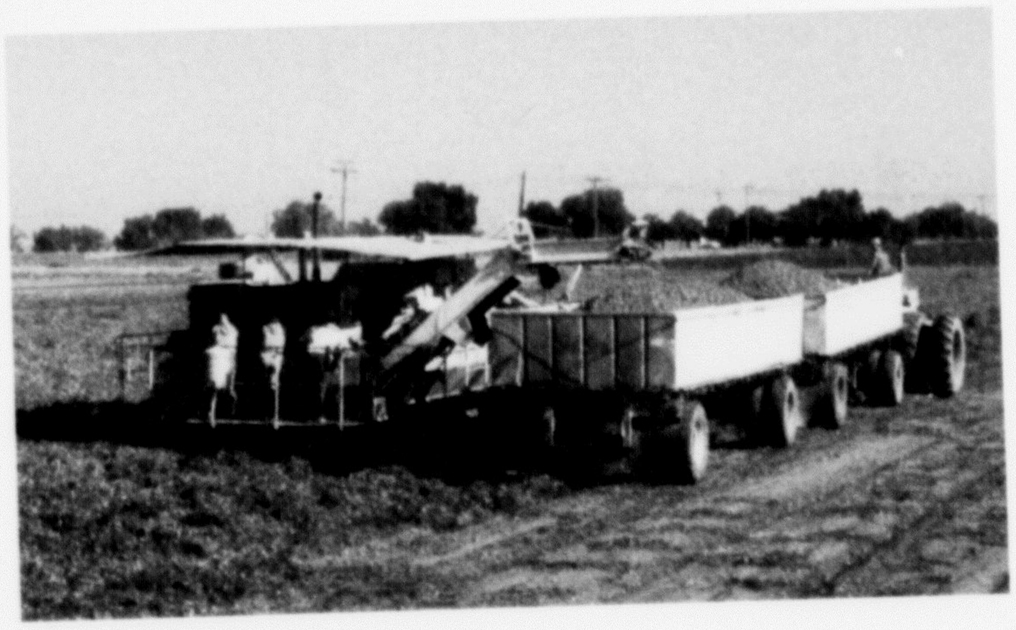
Clean air... blue skies... and lots of wide... wide... extra wide-open spaces.

That's Yolo County yesterday, today and tomorrow. Agriculture has been the core industry in Yolo County since its inception, and that's the way the County plans to keep it.

Yolo County has more than 600,000 acres zoned for agricultural use. Its dark brown, rich, humus-filled valley soils grow a wide range of foods and fibers including tomatoes, rice, corn, winegrapes, beans, cotton, hay, safflower, sugar beets, melons and wheat. Orchards abound with almonds, prunes and walnuts. Modern large-scale farming techniques and proximity to major transportation corridors combine to make Yolo County an ideal farming location.

More than 95% of Yolo County's total land area is devoted to agriculture. Other land uses pale in comparison. Just over 1,100 acres (.17%) are zoned for industrial uses; a total of 2,600 acres (.42%) are zoned for residential uses; and only 231 acres (.03%) are zoned for commercial uses.

Holding on to Yolo County's farming heritage and preserving agricultural land for the future is the primary goal of a recent program adopted by the Board of Supervisors. With approval of the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Board has embraced several long- and short-term approaches to keeping County land under tillage. Steps will include zoning changes, an Agricultural Land Conservation Ordinance, and amendments to the County General Plan. The Board will form an Agricultural Task Force to provide a comprehensive and collaborative set of recommendations for its future policy framework.



Tomato Harvest Rebounds

Yolo County's harvest of processing tomatoes has rebounded from the effects of El Nino last year, and the harvest this year is expected to reach 1.5 million tons. Price is up, too, at about $57.50 per ton on average.

More than 100 growers cultivate over 60,000 acres for processing tomatoes countywide, making processing tomatoes the County's dominant agricultural crop. Accounting for 20% of statewide processing tomato production, Yolo County's crop constitutes more than 40% of total Yolo County farm revenues.

Nature Conservation

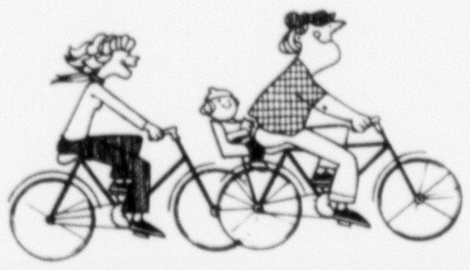
Nature Preservation

Complementing County efforts to preserve its farming and open space heritage, the County is keeping natural resource conservation high on its priority list.

Through its General Plan, Yolo County aims to safeguard and enhance existing wildlife habitat, while creating additional nature preserves and educational opportunities. Currently, the County owns 250 acres where wildlife is protected and holds habitat conservation easements on an additional 180 acres, much of which has been acquired in the past three years. These sites have been carefully selected to maximize a wide array of ecological benefits, without impacting nearby urban and agricultural uses.

Habitat conservation is occurring on numerous sites throughout the County. The Grasslands Regional Park, located two miles south of Davis, contains forty acres of open meadows that provide valuable foraging habitat for Swainson's hawks and other raptors. Less well-known are the eleven acres of old growth oaks owned by the County, situated four miles south of Elkhorn, which serves as one of the last surviving remnants of the vast forest that used to border the Sacramento River.

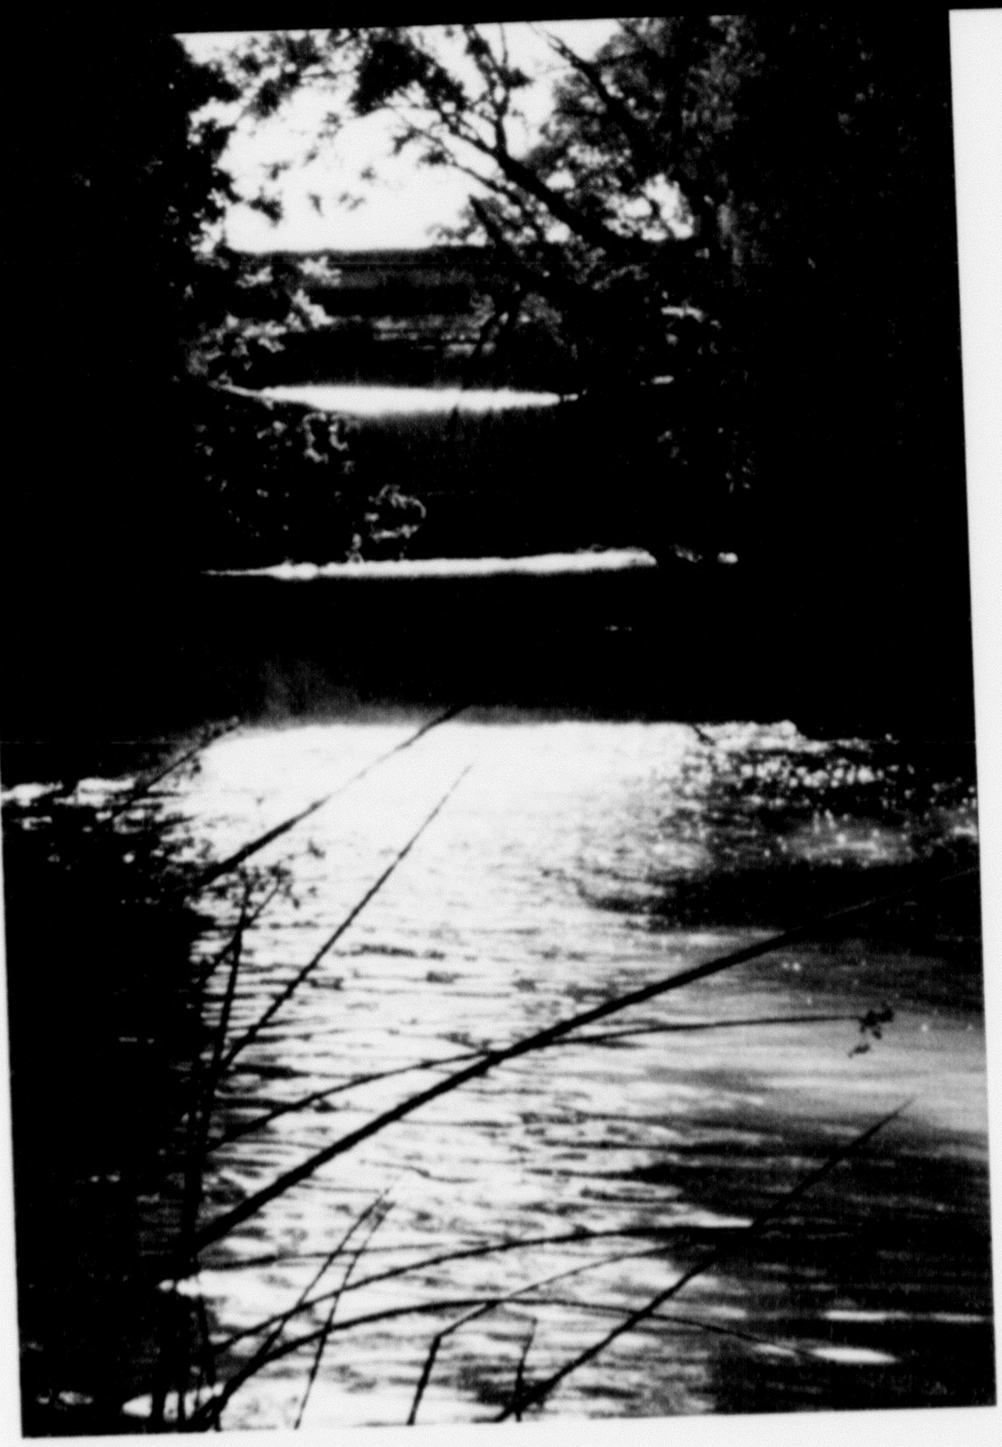
Additionally, twenty acres of native willows and cottonwoods were purchased by the County near Cache Creek, about three miles northeast of Madison. Similarly, thirty acres of wetlands and ponds located south of Cache Creek were donated to the County by Richard Correll as a wildlife preserve. Nichols Park, in Guinda, contains a mitigation site for the valley elderberry longhorn beetle. The Knights Landing Fishing Access also protects several acres of verdant riparian vegetation and is operated as a joint venture between the Wildlife Conservation Board and Yolo County.



Wheels Keep Rolling

While the City of Davis may be known as the "city of bicycles," bicycle wheels are rolling in other parts of the county as well.

Yolo County's wide-open spaces, flat terrain, mild climate and relatively short distances between cities make it a favorite for cycling enthusiasts. Several miles of Class I bikeways help as well. (A Class I bikeway is one in which the bike path is separated from roads and streets, permits bicycles to go in either direction and motor vehicles are excluded.) Current Class I bikeways exist along the Interstate 80 causeway and another is west of Davis near Road 32. Plans are being made to add more Class I bikeways along the Yolo bypass and other waterways.



Teichert Donates Land

A gift of 130 acres of land adjacent to Cache Creek was completed this spring. The donor, Teichert Aggregates, gave the land to Yolo County to be protected as a nature preserve. It will be operated by the non-profit Cache Creek Conservancy.

The purpose of this gift is to create the Cache Creek Nature Preserve. The Preserve is intended as not only a habitat set-aside, but as an educational resource for the school children of Yolo County as well. From time to time, events will be held that allow other citizens to visit this beautiful creek-front property.

Almost one-third of the area has been developed into a beautiful wetlands. The property, in addition to nature trails and creek overlooks, includes a beautiful oak tree-covered savannah. A special dedication for the site will be coming next spring!

Natural resource conservation and preservation is a high priority.

New Regional Library

A new Yolo County Library building is under construction in Esparto and will be open to serve people in the area by the end of the year. The total cost of the project including equipment and furnishings is about $1.3 million.

ARTIST'S DRAWING — ESPARTO REGIONAL LIBRARY

The building will be a 5,600-square foot single-story, attractively landscaped building. It will include a reading area with fireplace, a children's story time nook, computer stations with Internet access, and a community room that will seat sixty people. The interior will be brightened by clerestory windows and include warm oak woods and a pleasing color scheme. There will be a display case and wall area for rotating exhibits. Also, the Yolo County Arts Council is securing permanent artwork to be installed at the library.

The library, located in the Fifth Supervisorial District, is a wonderful example of private and public sector partnerships. The facility will be owned and operated by the County, located on land owned by the Esparto School District and leased to the County, and will serve as the Esparto High School Library as well as a public library. And, finally, the private sector has been most generous in its support of the building fund.

This library is being built without any bonds or special assessments. The impetus for a new library came from the Friends of the Esparto Regional Library (FERL) which raised $75,000. A capital campaign co-chaired by Dave and Ann Scheuring brought in another $262,000. Additionally, a $100,000 bequest was made from the estate of Mamie Dixie Keisler, and the Rumsey Indian Rancheria donated $150,000. The County contributed $315,000 to the project and a federal library construction grant for $325,000 rounded out the financing.

Thus, with this marvelous support from the region, construction has started and we are all anticipating a grand opening for the new Esparto Library in December!

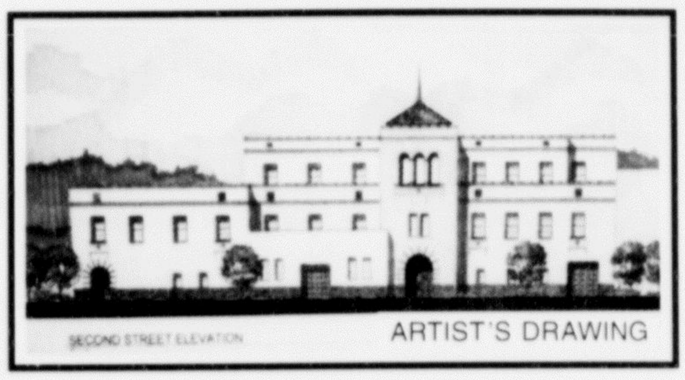
New Landmark Coming



ARTIST'S DRAWING

A new landmark is emerging in historic downtown Woodland where a venerable vacant building is undergoing renovation and expansion to become the new home for the Yolo County District Attorney's Office. The 20,000 square-foot building is at the site of the historic former Daily Democrat office located on the corner of Court and Second Streets in the Third Supervisorial District.

Expected to open this summer, the new building will house approximately 75 Yolo County employees, all District Attorney Criminal Division sections, which includes grant-supported activities relating to child abduction, spousal abuse, rape, and drug prevention, along with the Special Services Unit, which includes consumer, environmental, and white collar crime prosecution. The building will also house the Check Prosecution Unit. The Family Support Division will remain at 100 West Court Street.

This renovation will help the City of Woodland with revitalization efforts for the downtown area. The City of Woodland, Woodland Downtown Business Associates, Woodland Chamber of Commerce, and private businesses and individuals support the project.

The historic ambiance of the Court Street area will also be enhanced with the extension of the Heritage Plaza design from Dead Cat Alley one block north to Court Street. According to the plan, Second Street will be converted to one-way traffic in the southern direction with diagonal parking. The Second Street improvements are the result of a partnership between the City of Woodland, the County of Yolo, Court Street Associates, and the Yolo Community Bank. Public access to the District Attorney building will be from Second Street near the middle of the block.

Regional Park

raveling south from Davis along Mace Blvd. is a unique and d "Grasslands Regional Park". Set in an original marshland area of Yolo

County which later became farmland after construction of levees along the Sacramento River, Grasslands Regional Park is a 320-acre natural preserve which combines open space habitat and other outdoor opportunities for county residents.

The park is especially convenient for residents of South Davis, El Macero and Willowbank and can be easily reached by bicycle. Located in the Fourth Supervisorial District, the park is home to a large variety of wildlife including the red tailed and Swainson's hawks, the burrowing owl and other raptors. The site is a natural savannah where more than 100 acres of Play Ball!

Hot dogs, cotton candy, cold drinks and AAA baseball are coming to the Sacramento River. A new stadium, Raley's Field, is on the drawing boards and will be located in West Sacramento on the riverfront in the First Supervisorial District. Yolo County, Sacramento County and the City of West Sacramento all formed a partnership with River City Baseball Association to move a Triple-A baseball team from Canada to West Sacramento. Opening day will be Spring of 2000.

It has been almost forty years since the Sacramento Solons left their home at Edmond's Field, on Broadway and Riverside. Yoloans countywide are excited about bringing professional baseball back to town. Baseball is affordable, accessible and fun and something in which all county citizens can take pride.

Economic Development

Improving Economic Base

Yolo County has partnered with the community in the formation of the Economic Development Council to take action toward improving the County's economic base while retaining its focus on open space and the preservation of agricultural land.

The Board of Supervisors' appointed Council consists of elected officials, community leaders, chamber of commerce members, local educational and area agricultural representatives and the economic development coordinators from the cities of Davis, Woodland, West Sacramento, Winters and the County of Yolo. An Executive Committee and six action committees have been formed by the 38-member Council to look at targeted areas and draft action plans for the entire council to review and pursue.

The Executive Committee is chaired by a member of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors, vice-chaired by a member of the City Council of the City of Woodland, and includes the chair of each of the six committees.

The six committees, their leaders and purposes are:

- Agricultural Advancement. Chair, Dona Mast, Woodland Chamber of Commerce.
  Developing ways agriculture and related businesses can have the necessary zoning policies, regulations, labor force and public support necessary for them to be sustainable, ever-increasing assets to the economic base of the County.
- Business Building. Chair, John Sulpizio, Port of Sacramento (West Sacramento).
  Doing all things necessary to retain, attract, and build new businesses and industries within Yolo County.
- Economic Alliance. Chair, Marjorie Dickinson, Chancellor's Office (UC Davis).
  Developing public/private economic alliances on local and regional levels.
- Regulatory Reform. Chair, Lee Humes, Attorney.
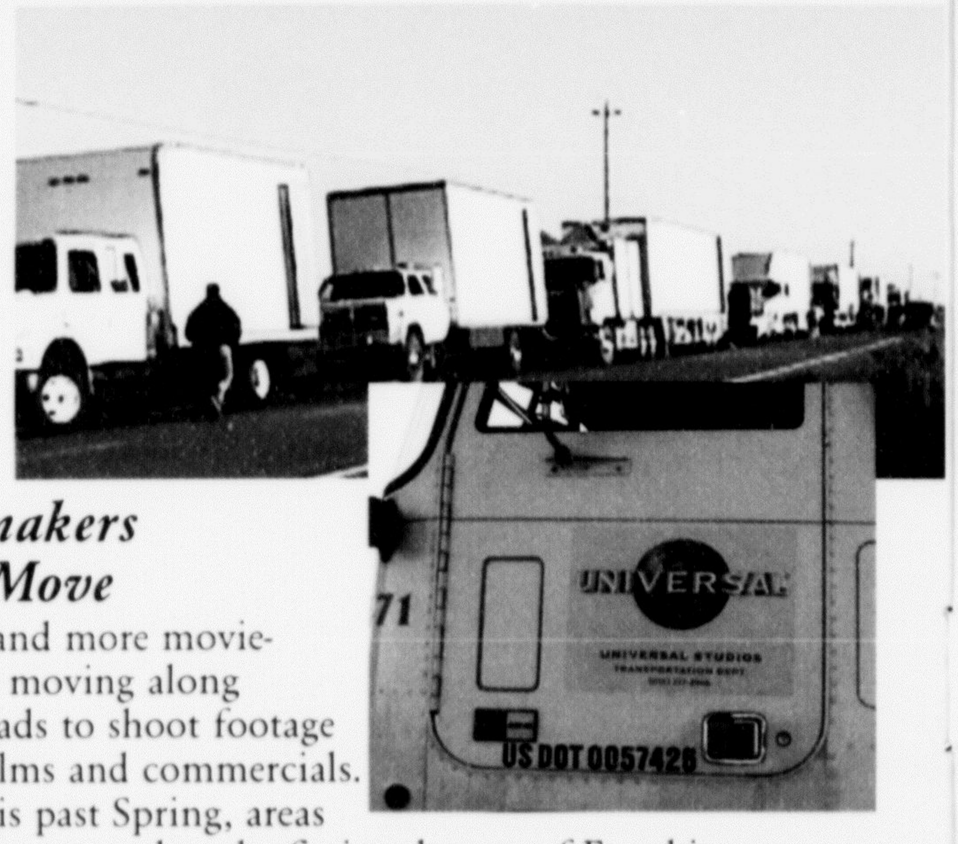
  Developing ways government and private industry will work together to advance, improve and streamline the regulatory entitlement process so that consistent policies can better advance the economic development mission, save resources, and achieve goals.
- Telecommunications and Transportation. Chair, Susie Boyd, Davis City Council.
  Ensuring that Internet access is available to business and industry; and that mass transit, highways, roads, the Port of Sacramento and more will meet the needs of citizens, agriculture, and businesses throughout the County.
- Tourism Development. Chair, Casey Stone, Yolo County Farm Bureau.
  Developing how tourism, including agricultural, educational, historical and natural assets such as Cache Creek, Putah Creek, and the Sacramento River can be an important part of the economic health of the County.



Moviemakers on the Move

More and more moviemakers are moving along County roads to shoot footage for their films and commercials.

Just this past Spring, areas of Clarksburg served as the fictional town of Frostbite Falls, Minnesota while Universal Studios was there to film portions of an animated film starring Rocky and Bullwinkle.

Since 1995, a total of fourteen different film crews have shot footage in various locations including Dunnigan, Davis, Clarksburg, Zamora, and Yolo.

Biotech Carves Out Niche

Agricultural biotechnology companies are carving out their niche in Yolo County. There are currently 18 ag biotech firms located in the County ranging from one-person start-ups to ag biotech pioneer Calgene with 145 employees.

The industry is young. The initial stream of ag biotech products entered the market recently, in 1995. The Yolo County firms are developing a wide range of products including transgenetic plants and animals, fermentation facilities, natural pesticides, tissue culture laboratories, and seeds.

A variety of factors are contributing to the development of this new industry. The presence of UC Davis, a leading research university for fundamental and applied research in both plant and animal ag biotech, has created a pool of scientists, technicians and students to support the industry. Proximity to San Francisco and the I-80 Life Science Corridor developed by the Solano County Economic Development Corporation has also contributed. All this would not succeed, however, if it weren't for the openness of the Yolo County farm community to enter into collaborative field trials for providing a unique laboratory for research, product development and field-testing.

Jobs Stay in Yolo County

Yolo County is a net importer of jobs with more than 20,000 new jobs being created between 1988 and 1997. According to the California State Employment Development Department, there were a total of 60,100 jobs in the County in 1988. That grew to 76,100 in 1993 and to 82,200 in 1997. All industries, except agriculture and mining, experienced job growth during this period.

Life and Leisure

Nearby Whitewater

The closest white water to the Bay Area rumbles through Cache Creek Canyon Regional Park in Yolo County. The park is located along Highway 16 about six miles north of Rumsey. The 700-plus acre park has three developed campgrounds. It also provides access to BLM property, including the Blue Ridge Trail. Private concessionaires offer white water rafting for the thrill of a lifetime!

County Fair Coming

The 58th Annual Yolo County Fair opens August 18th and continues through August 22nd at the Yolo County Fairgrounds located on Gum Avenue near East Street. This year's theme is "58 Ears of Fun."

The fair will showcase corn, corn products, and corn production along with celebrating 58 years of the Yolo County Fair. Promoters estimate nearly 125,000 will attend the five-day event.

Sponsored by the California State Department of Food and Agriculture, the Yolo County Fair is the state's largest free admission county fair.

Rolling Art

Brightly-colored cartoon characters began visiting the southeast area development this summer when the Yolo County Library bookmobile started regular summer service at Klenhard Park.

The bookmobile is truly a work of art. It was painted by California artist Phil Yeh and features characters from his childrens' books. Phil signed the painting and the bookmobile is considered a signed piece of public art. The bookmobile contains approximately 2,700 books including selections in English and Spanish.

This is the second year that Yolo County Library and the City of Woodland Library have partnered to provide bookmobile service to the southeast area. The bookmobile also visits Dunnigan, West Sacramento, Capay Valley sites and Davis. For a full schedule, call (530)666-8005 or (916)375-6465.

Ag History Center

One of the largest and most diverse collections of antique agricultural equipment in the country is on display at the Heidrick Ag History Center located at 1962 Hays Lane in Woodland. The collection contains 150 tractors and farm implements dating from the 1800s to 1940s.

The collection occupies the 130,000 sq. ft. Center along with the Hays Antique Truck Museum. The truck museum displays steam, gas, diesel and electric powered trucks dating from 1903 to the 1950s.

County Activities

Fields of Dreams at State Fair

Yolo County's booth at the State Fair this year promises to be exciting, interactive and educational. The booth's theme, "Fields of Dreams," will feature an electronic quiz game called "World Export Challenge," whereby fair-goers can push a button to identify the worldwide destinations of Yolo County crop exports.

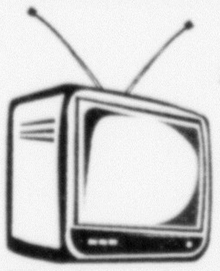
The centerpiece for this year's booth is a large seal made from seeds grown in Yolo County. Hundreds of thousands of seeds cover the five-foot diameter seal, and each is meticulously glued in place by hand. Seeds used include rice, wild rice, beans, split peas, sunflower, safflower, Sudan grass and pumpkin. Citizens and County staffers have volunteered their time to construct the booth. It has been constructed largely of materials recycled from previous years' booths.

Yolo County is one of 57 counties with a display at the State Fair this year. In past years, Yolo County has received two gold medals and awards for best content and innovation. The State Fair opens August 20 and closes September 6.

New Leaders Guide County

Two long-term County employees have been promoted by the Board of Supervisors to help guide the County into the new millennium. They are Vic Singh, County Administrative Officer and Don Ishikawa, Assistant County Administrative Officer.

Vic is a graduate of local schools. He began his public service with Yolo County in 1974 and later served for eight years as a manager in Sacramento County's Health and Human Services Agency. He returned to Yolo County in 1992 as Deputy Director of Mental Health and was appointed as Director of Mental Health the following year. In 1997 he was appointed Assistant County Administrator and promoted to County Administrative Officer in 1998 upon the retirement of County Administrative Officer Roy Pedersen. Don has been a Yolo County employee for 12 years, including six as Deputy Director of Mental Health Services and six as an analyst in the County Administrator's Office.



Board Meetings Televised

County residents can now watch Yolo County government in action simply by turning on their television sets. Meetings of the Board of Supervisors are now being videotaped for delayed broadcast.

The broadcast schedule is:

City of Davis	Channel 7	Sun., 7:00 p.m., Mon., 1:00 p.m.
City of West Sacramento	Channel 21	Sat., 2:00 p.m., Sun., 2:00 p.m.
City of Woodland	Channel 20	Wed., 6:00 p.m.

County staff is working with cable providers in Winters and Esparto to provide service to those areas in the near future.

The Board of Supervisors meets on the first, third and fourth Tuesday of every month starting at 9:00 a.m. Agendas for their meetings are posted at the entrance to the Edwin Meier Administration Building at 625 Court Street, Woodland. Agendas are also available at the Board Clerk's office, on the Yolo County Web site, and at Yolo County Library branches. Board meeting videos can be checked out for home viewing by contacting the Clerk to the Board at (530)666-8195.
